

Dublin, March 18. 1853

Dear Mrs Chapman - I wrote a line to Emma yesterday having heard that the opportunity to Paris happened this day from Bristol - but by a line from Miss Estlin I found it is not to start at least until tomorrow so I write to say that I had fresh & substantial evidence of the benefit wrought by the letters you sent in this direction lately. It is not anent the Advocate - I am not at liberty to say what it is
- but I know your letters have done the work. You do good better ways - for you benefit our friend as well as the cause. He makes a deal of money & is generous if you make a proper appeal the "love of approbation", speaking phre-nologically, is it ought to be large to be liked to have respectable an-guaranties of correspondents.

Joseph Sturge is one of his dearest friends. Thomas Harvey of Leeds who created the West India incompany with Sturge & another.
Maria Webb is his sister-in-law
- all three bitter antislavery men
- so I like to do all I can to support the Philadelphia. This I think far plotting and I thought you would like to know that good has been done. May I hope to hear from Paris when Miss E's friends return. It is pleasant to see the sign of your hand. But don't let me inconvenience you.
I was greatly delighted by the good news of her storm in reference to the Antislavery cause & its friends from Caroline's letter to myself rec'd a few days ago.

Could any thing at all be done to show her what poor creatures the Glasgow houses are. Her influence & testimony will have great weight in England, & I am most anxious she may wield it on the right side. We could be a thousand times she should not meet with Mr Estlin & George Thompson - the two very bad anti-slavery men in the British islands - and the bad white men to attract their selvish attention. She will surely see her Father. Could nothing be done through her

Ever ever respectfully

Richd Webb
